

CLASSROOM NEWSLETTER

January 20-24, 2025

Next Week

Reading

We will be finishing up our author study of Kevin Henkes and begin the next unit. This story will be about how the development of technology impacts sports.

Math Fun

Unit 4 begins and it is a very big unit! We will delve into learning all we can about fractions. Be sure to continue to practice those fact fluency equations as we will tie them into fractions.

Science

Next week we continue Unit 3 learning about environment and survival. We will be reading about various animals to determine how their needs are met in their environments.

More Next Week

Social Studies: We will continue working on our MO and national symbols unit.

Language Arts: We will continue our book Jake Drake. There are activities to go with each chapter and this will lead into a writing at the end of the book.

Upcoming Events

- January 20: No School- Martin Luther King, Jr. Day
- Please note that I will be out of town next week for my husband's work trip but will be checking email if you need to reach me. Mrs. Maag will be here for me.

Next week is a review week of Units 13-17. This will include the patterns of blends, final syllable of “le,” soft c and soft g and words spelled with aw and o.