

November Newsletter

From Mrs. Scott

THE WEEK AHEAD

Reading: Next week we will finish up the remaining chapters of The Chalkbox Kid. Students will be working on a second visualizing activity and discuss how the actions of the characters can determine the path of the story.

Math: We will really work strongly on using multiplying and dividing to solve story problems and create new problems independently as well. The students will also be learning about multiples of 10.

Science: Unit 2 continues as we learn about inheritance of traits and the patterns that can be observed in the various species of organisms.

Social Studies: On Monday and Tuesday, we will be doing some activities to tie in to the election. Following the election, we will begin the next unit about Missouri economy.

Language Arts: We will continue our grammar unit to learn about plural regular and irregular nouns.
