

Mrs. Svendsen's Kindergarten News

Reading – Our heartwords this week are say, now, and have. Your child should be reading cvc (consonant, vowel, consonant) words fluently at this point, as well as being confident enough to attempt to read sentences.

This week we will read Bear's Loose Tooth and All About Teeth.

Math – This week we will finish up our unit on 2D and 3D shapes. Have your child notice different shaped items around your house and name them, such as cube, cylinder, sphere, etc.

Science - Smile! We will learn about teeth and dental health.

Progress Reports – Progress reports will be sent home on Tuesday. Please take the time to review the areas your child may be struggling in. I am so proud of the progress they have made so far this year! Please reach out to me if you have any questions.

Valentine's Day – Thank you to the parents who volunteered to help plan and provide for our classroom party. Each child will need to make a Valentine's box at home to bring to school on Feb. 14. Please make sure their name is on it, written big enough for the other students to see. A list of names for Valentines has been sent home. It's going to be a fun day!

100th Day of School Donations – Thanks for sending in all the items for our trail mix! We had a blast!
